New VP Engineering – Michael Krax joins Qixxit

The digital travel planner Qixxit has taken Michael Krax on board. In this newly created position, Krax heads up the team of developers and, since April 1, 2018, has been responsible for the further development of the Qixxit software. He reports directly to Stefan Kellner, CEO of Qixxit.

Krax came to Qixxit from competitor GoEuro, where he worked as Senior Software Development Manager on the conversion of the company's booking platform. Previously, he led developer teams at the hardware and software producer Oracle. He studied political and social science in Berlin and Paris and received his PhD from the Freie Universität Berlin in 2009.

About Qixxit
Qixxit is a digital travel planner that combines long-distance bus, train and flight options into one route and creates a custom itinerary. For the first time, travellers can find it all in one place: smart connections, advantageous, exact fares as well as tickets. The international team at the Berlin-based startup works to make travelling easier for everyone. Qixxit is an investment of Deutsche Bahn Digital Ventures GmbH. Find out more here: www.qixxit.de
