Cabonline joins the 2030-secretariat as a new partner

Cabonline, the largest taxi network in the Nordics, is partnering with the 2030-secretariat. Drawing on its experience in electrification and shared mobility, the company aims to accelerate to transport sector's climate transition and highlight the role of taxis in the transport systems of the future.

Cabonline operates taxi services in Sweden, Norway and Finland under brands such as Sverigetaxi, TaxiKurir and Norgestaxi. More than 80 per cent of the Group's passenger cars are now fossil-independent, with a target of a fully fossil-free vehicle fleet by 2030. Through the partnership, Cabonline aims to share its experience and collaborate with other stakeholders to develop more sustainable transport solutions.

– Taxis play a vital role in sustainable transport, both through shared mobility and essential services such as school transport and transport for people with disabilities. Through this partnership, we want to share our experience and work with others to advance sustainable and accessible mobility, says Charlotta Söderlund, President and CEO of Cabonline Group.

– To achieve the transport sector's climate transition, we need both cleaner vehicles and smarter use of our transport resources. Taxis have an important role to play, complementing public transport and providing essential transport services. Having 80 per cent fossil-independent vehicles is impressive and provides valuable experience that we will draw on in our efforts to make sustainable travel the natural choice, says Mattias Goldmann, CEO of the 2030-secretariat.

Cabonline has reported on sustainability since 2017 and has climate targets validated by the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi), aligned with the Paris Agreement's 1.5°C goal. The partnership provides a platform to share the taxi industry's perspective on how electrification, shared mobility and smarter travel can reduce transport emissions.

About the 2030-secretariat
The 2030-secretariat works to ensure that Sweden meets its 2030 climate targets for the transport sector and its shared EU commitments. The organisation is politically independent, technology-neutral and operates independently of individual commercial interests.
