

Scout Gaming granted betting license

Scout Gaming Group has been granted a license by Malta Gaming Authority, which enables Scout Gaming to provide betting related services, to operators under the Maltese regulation.

Scout Gaming has been granted permission from Malta Gaming Authority (MGA) to offer its recently developed products to operators licensed under MGA. As a part of the company's strategy to offer additional sport related services, a bunch of new games is expected to be launched under the second half of the year.

“Our player pricing is the foundation of additional odds related products, a prerequisite for launching these in Europe has been a license. Hence, I'm happy that we now can initiate the roll out. We already have a couple of current clients showing interest in this and one of the products is now live on the Indian market, comments Scout Gaming's CEO, Andreas Ternstrom.
