HusmanHagberg chooses Vitec Express

Vitec has signed a three-year contract with the HusmanHagberg real estate broker chain to provide the cloud-based real estate broker system Vitec Express. HusmanHagberg has been evaluating the system in operation since spring 2015 and has found that the system meets the demands that the chain makes of a modern business support system.

Vitec Express is a cloud-based real estate broker system launched in 2013 as a complement to Vitec's traditional business system for real estate brokers. Today the system is entirely freestanding and operates via a cloud service. Express simplifies the modern broker's day-to-day work and makes it possible to work on-the-go because all modern devices like tablets, mobile phones and computers are supported.

- With Vitec Express we meet our brokers' need for fast, easy access to the system wherever they are, says HusmanHagberg's CEO Lennart Hagberg. The great value of the new system is that our brokers can more easily maintain close continuous contact with both buyers and sellers. The whole bidding process becomes both more efficient and more secure, administration is streamlined, and they can put all their energy into meetings with clients, he goes on.

- As a supplier of business systems for real estate brokers, our main task is to constantly try to simplify Swedish brokers' everyday work. The contract with HusmanHagberg shows that we are right on track toward the next generation of real estate broker systems, says Richard Larsson, Head of Vitec's Real Estate Broker business unit. We are pleased to be able to contribute to further simplify and quality assure the system and thereby increase confidence in the whole industry.
