The scope of the program comprise the two financial years 2021 and 2022 ("LTI 2021-2022") and shall be targeted in a way that entails that it has been a favorable development for the Company's shareholders. The LTI program shall amount to a maximum of 35 percent of an annual salary for the CEO and 14-20 percent of an annual salary for other senior executives. For outcomes, it is required that a minimum level established by the Board for accumulated earnings per share for the financial years 2021 and 2022 is achieved or exceeded. The shareholding must be retained by the executive for at least 3 years. Investment in shares may take place over the stock exchange or through the transfer of own shares, whereby the Board in the latter case intends to return at the 2022 annual general meeting with a proposal for a decision on the transfer of own shares. In the event of a full outcome, the cost for LTI 2021-2022 is estimated to amount to approximately SEK 5.19 million.

Proposed decision for (A) authorisation for the Board to decide on the acquisition of the Company's own shares and (B) the transfer of the Company's own shares (item 16)

The Board of Directors proposes that the annual general meeting decides to acquire and transfer respectively the Company's own shares in accordance with that stated below.

Background

The Board believes that situations may arise during the period until the next annual general meeting when there will be a need to repurchase shares and to transfer them. For instance, this may arise in the context of industrial acquisitions and other structural development of the operations of the Nederman Group.

(A) The Board's proposal for decision to authorise the Board to decide on acquisition of the Company's own shares

The Board proposes that the annual general meeting authorise the Board to decide, on one or more occasions during the period until the 2022 annual general meeting, to acquire the Company's own shares as follows:

- (i) Acquisition of the Company's own shares can take place on Nasdaq Stockholm at a price within the registered share price interval at any time, the interval being defined as the range between the highest buying price and lowest selling price.
- (ii) Acquisition of the Company's own shares may be made so that the Company's holding of its own shares amounts to a maximum of ten (10) per cent of all shares in Nederman.

(B) The Board's proposal for authorisation to transfer the Company's own shares

The Board proposes that the annual general meeting authorises the Board to decide, on one or more occasions during the period until the 2022 annual general meeting, to transfer the Company's own shares as follows:

- (i) Transfer may be made of a maximum of the number of shares that are held by the Company at the time of the Board's decision and which are not required for the delivery of shares under the Company's incentive programme.
- (ii) Transfer of the Company's own shares can take place on Nasdaq Stockholm at a price within the registered share price interval at any time, the interval being defined as the range between the highest buying price and lowest selling price.
- (iii) Transfer of shares may take place as payment in full or in part of the purchase price for the acquisition of companies or business or in connection with a merger, whereby the payment shall correspond to the assessed market value.
- (iv) Payment for transferred shares may be made in cash, in kind or by set-off of a receivable.
- (v) Transfer may be made with deviation from the shareholders' preferential rights.

The purpose of the authorisations and the reason for the deviation from shareholders' preferential rights is to create a readiness for the Board to fully or partially finance industrial acquisitions with the Company's own shares and to allow other structural development of the operations of the Nederman Group.

The Board's proposal for resolution under item 16 requires approval of shareholders representing at least two thirds of both the votes cast and the shares represented at the annual general meeting.

The Nomination Committee's proposal and reasoned statement along with information about all Board members who are proposed to the Board of Directors of the Company are available on the Company's website www.nedermangroup.com.
