

Risk Intelligence signs agreement for the Risk Intelligence System with Helix Well Ops

Risk Intelligence A/S (“Risk Intelligence”) today announces that the company has signed an agreement with Helix Well Ops for the Risk Intelligence System (MaRisk+PortRisk).

Risk Intelligence are pleased to announce that they will be supporting future Helix Well Ops operational deployments with the Risk Intelligence System as well as bespoke security risk assessment reports.

The Helix Well Ops requirement is another example of offshore operators looking for the very best in security advice and situational awareness when they deploy into new areas.

“The Offshore market has continued to improve in 2019, this has seen companies deploying assets to areas where they may not have traditionally operated – Risk Intelligence is extremely pleased to be able to support and enable these operations.” states Hans Tino Hansen, CEO of Risk Intelligence.

About Helix Well Ops
