

Risk Intelligence A/S delivers on growth promise - LandRisk product launched

Risk Intelligence A/S ("Risk Intelligence" or "the Company") announces that LandRisk, the third module in the Risk Intelligence System product suite which also includes MaRisk and PortRisk is launched today at an event in Düsseldorf, Germany.

Risk Intelligence is now expanding its products and services to serve companies involved in land-based transportation and end-to-end supply chains and logistics. Formally announced today at an event in Düsseldorf, Germany - the geographical centre of European land transportation and a major logistics hub - LandRisk is now available to the market.

With the launch of LandRisk, Risk Intelligence reaches a major milestone in the Growth Plan for 2020, set out as a development goal at the IPO in August 2018, and offers end-to-end supply chain security risk intelligence.

Hans Tino Hansen, CEO of Risk Intelligence says:

"We are proud to offer the market and our existing clients security risk intelligence and risk mitigation tools covering the supply chain end-to-end. The launch of LandRisk marks a major milestone in the Growth Plan for 2020. Launching LandRisk we are delivering on a commitment made to investors at the IPO in 2018. With the inclusion of LandRisk, we are addressing a market 20 times larger than our existing maritime markets and we have already witnessed considerable interest for the new product."

The launch event includes a keynote on 'Creating Supply Chain Resilience in the interconnected world' by Prof. Dr. Richard Wilding OBE, Cranfield School of Management, Cranfield University and a roundtable discussion facilitated by Prof. Omera Khan, Strategic Supply Chain Risk Expert. Among the roundtable participants are Thorsten Neumann, President & CEO TAPA, Shara Galvin, EMEA Trade Compliance Manager, Bloomberg L.P. and Ilya Smolentsev, Corporate Security Professional.

LandRisk

Cargo theft has reached historic levels according to the Transported Assets Protection Association (TAPA), a worldwide membership organisation focused on reducing cargo theft within supply chains*. This situation underscores the need for efficient risk mitigation tools and platforms.

LandRisk offers companies involved in land-based logistics, by road, rail or in-land waterways a variety of sought-after tools to mitigate risks to employees, assets and cargo. LandRisk includes threat assessments by in-house analysts, dynamic hotspot reporting, incident monitoring and reporting, a logistics route planning tool and 24/7 direct access to a duty watch team.

LandRisk is the third module in the Risk Intelligence System product suite which also includes MaRisk and PortRisk. The products can be used individually or combined, and when combined, they provide the customer with a complete end-to-end supply chain security risk intelligence solution.
