

Risk Intelligence A/S signs a Lloyd's underwriter up for the Risk Intelligence System and bespoke intelligence support

Risk Intelligence A/S ("Risk Intelligence" or "the Company") has signed an agreement with another Lloyd's underwriter, providing access to the Risk Intelligence System as well as bespoke operational intelligence support.

The agreement with the underwriter will provide full access to the Risk Intelligence System (MaRisk+PortRisk), bringing the very best maritime intelligence to their team to assist them in writing cover for war risks and other complex insurance areas. Risk Intelligence will also provide bespoke reports and monthly briefs to the new client to ensure their team has continuous access to all the information they need.

Lloyd's of London, or Lloyd's, is a corporate body with roots in the maritime industry that operates as an insurance and reinsurance marketplace. The new client is a major underwriter within the maritime insurance market, based at Lloyd's, with a focus on the dynamic area of War Risks as well as their broader portfolio.

Jim Pascoe, CCO of Risk Intelligence says:

"Entering agreements with insurance clients is a very competitive process and our previous delivery to this client secured Risk Intelligence the ongoing contract – once again showing the quality of our analysts and advisory teams. So for several reasons, we're truly delighted to add yet another underwriter to our strong book of insurance clients."

"In welcoming our new client onboard, we will be providing our maritime intelligence right into the heart of marine underwriting and into a business that likes to challenge the traditional ways of dealing with war risk cover and other challenging aspects of insurance. We are very much looking forward to working with their team and assisting them in pushing forward."
