

Catella is Sweden's largest sales advisor

Catella acted as advisor in property transactions in Sweden with a value of approximately SEK 20 billion in 2013. Based on a total market volume of approximately SEK 96 billion, this means that Catella was Sweden's largest sales advisor in the real estate sector in 2013.

“2013 was a very strong year for us and 2014 has the potential to become an even stronger year for property in terms of the market, thanks to the recovery in the economy combined with continued improvement in financing opportunities for property acquisitions,” says Anders Nordvall, head of the Swedish property advisory services.

“At the beginning of the year we have seen a rise in transaction activity, and so far this year turnover has risen by over 20 percent compared to the same period in 2013,” says Daniel Anderbring, market analyst for Catella's property advisory services in Sweden.

Catella's property advisory services have operations in 11 European countries and are the leaders in the Swedish market for property transactions and property-related services in debt and equity capital markets. The Swedish property advisory services have approximately forty employees and have offices in Stockholm, Gothenburg and Malmö.
