

PolarCool AB (publ) establishes PolarCap® System in the German hockey league through a deal with Adler Mannheim

PolarCool has signed an agreement on a (1) PolarCap® System with the German hockey club Adler Mannheim, which plays in Germany's top tier ice hockey division, DEL. Adler Mannheim will evaluate PolarCap® System during the remainder of the current season. Adler Mannheim will thus become a reference team in Germany and PolarCool believes that the collaboration serves as good potential for wider establishment in Germany.

PolarCool's CEO Christian Strand comments;

- In our ambition to establish ourselves in several of the European hockey markets, this first agreement with a German club is a milestone. The fact that the reigning German champions Adler Mannheim become our reference club in Germany shows that they believe in our product PolarCap® system. It is also gratifying that they want to assist us in our work to achieve a central agreement, similar to the one in the Swedish Hockey League, also for the German league DEL.

PolarCool's Erik Andersson comments;

- Our work with establishing cooperation with a number of reference clubs in several European hockey leagues continues. The first team in the German league (DEL) is the reigning champions Adler Mannheim whose team doctor, neurologist Oliver Lanczik, immediately wanted to start providing this to their players.

Dr. med. Oliver Lanczik (Neurologist, Adler Mannheim);

- I am thankful that the Adler Mannheim as the first DEL organization in Germany can provide PolarCap® System to its players. As the occurrence of concussions is more and more perceived in contact sports, the therapeutic options are somewhat limited. We therefore welcome the PolarCap® System as a new promising tool in the acute treatment of concussion and are confident that we can thereby offer an improved medical care for our players.
