Arm-swinging and floor-bashing VR platformer Outta Hand hits the Meta Quest Store autumn 2023

Stockholm, June 14, 2023 - Capricia Productions and Beyond Frames Entertainment today announced that Capricia's latest VR platforming title Outta Hand will be released on Meta Quest store in the autumn of 2023.

Other than premiering on UploadVR's Summer Showcase today, you can also find the teaser trailer here: https://youtu.be/qd9nd_N4Yn0

Outta Hand lets you embody one of the Hand-People, wide-eyed, hop-happy lab experiments with the power to jump great heights, leap impossible lengths, and shake hands from... really, really far away. Like a whole big dining room away.

Due to not being dumb enough, loveable as you are, Dr. Vendelvom has selected you for immediate termination. Not like fired gone, more like dead gone.

To save yourself and your brethren, you must platform, jump, bounce, and punch your way through the bad doctor's laboratory with your... uh... very long arms, to take down him and all his baddies. With multiple levels and boss fights along with an endless mode, things might get, shall we say, a little bit "out of hand?" Get it?! No? Fine...
