airteam has won a major ventilation contract for the construction of the so called Multibrugerhuset with associated towers at Posthusgrunden (a former post office building) in Værløse just outside of Copenhagen.

The project to construct the Multibrugerhuset building and the towers includes the construction of office buildings, residential units, hotel apartments, retail units and a health centre in the town of Værløse on the outskirts of Copenhagen. The total project encompasses an area of approximately 92,000 square metres. airteam's contract includes the delivery and installation of many large-scale, central ventilation systems.

"The complexity of the project demands extensive professional expertise in which we focus on sustainable solutions, low energy consumption and a healthy indoor climate. We appreciate the trust we have received and we look forward to helping to shape a new district in the heart of Copenhagen in close collaboration with the customer," says Poul Pihlmann, CEO of airteam.

"The award of this project highlights once again airteam's strong position in the Danish market. The high level of quality and customer satisfaction that airteam has demonstrated in its projects has resulted in the company taking part in tenders for the largest ventilation contracts in Denmark, which is highly gratifying," says Christian Johansson Gebauer, Board Chairman of airteam and Head of Business Area Construction & Services at Ratos.
