Plantasjen has reopened all stores

Plantasjen has reopened all stores in Norway. From mid-March up to 38 stores have been closed, due to Corona restrictions. This means that all Plantasjen's stores in the Nordic region now are open.

"It is satisfying that all stores on our markets are now open as we enter our most important sales period of the year. I am extremely impressed by the way our employees have handled the uncertainty during this period. One example is the launch of our e-commerce. Our online sales have accelerated quickly during this period. The effort done by the whole team is great, and we will of course handle the reopening in a responsible way and in line with authority recommendations," says Nina Jönsson, CEO of Plantasjen.
