INVISIO expands Group Management with SVP Operations

Joakim Birgersson has been appointed Senior Vice President Operations of INVISIO with responsibility for the Group's Manufacturing and Supply Chain. He will assume his role, a new position within INVISIO, by 1 September 2018, and will be part of the company's Group Management.

Joakim Birgersson has many years of experience within the security and hearing protection industry and has held executive positions in both small and large manufacturing companies, such as Sordin and Peltor. His most recent position was as Corporate Vice President and General Manager Europe at MSA Safety.

"We are pleased to welcome Joakim to INVISIO. He brings extensive experience and skills that will help continue to develop our operations organization. Our aim with this recruitment is to strengthen our combined skills for the company in our continued growth journey," says Lars Højgård Hansen, CEO of INVISIO.

Operations is an important part of INVISIO's business model. With a growing network of partners worldwide, an effective Manufacturing and Supply Chain is crucial to meeting customers' needs and expectations.
