INVISIO Communications receives SEK 19 m order from a leading Military Radio Manufacturer and expects additional order of SEK 13 m

INVISIO (IVSO) has received an order from a leading Military Radio Manufacturer in support of the Armed Forces of a NATO country. The order is for the INVISIO V60 Communication System and the order value is SEK 19 m. INVISIO expects that an additional order amounting to SEK 13 m from the same customer will be received before the end of 2012.

“We are very pleased to receive this order in support of the Armed Forces in a NATO country. It is our largest single order ever and we are of course very proud that we are able to respond to the customer’s requirements and that they have chosen our proposed solution” says Lars Højgård Hansen, CEO INVISIO Communications.

“It yet again illustrates the high quality of our products and that the communication solutions that we can provide to the world’s most demanding users are outstanding”,

The INVISIO V60 Communication System is a new advanced tactical communication and hearing protection system for modern military forces. With INVISIO V60 the user gets a very light, compact and flexible communication system with built-in hearing protection and full 360 degree situational awareness. The system provides crystal-clear communication even in the most extreme and noisy conditions.

“Using the INVISIO V60 Communication System, the user gets a very advanced communication solution. The INVISIO Bone Conduction Technology offers crystal clear communication even in very demanding environments like high noise. In addition the system lets the user maintain his normal hearing while being protected against harmful noises”, says Lars Højgård Hansen, CEO INVISIO Communications.
