The Board of Directors of H. Lundbeck A/S should consist of persons who together possess the financial, pharmaceutical, and international qualifications required for safeguarding the Company's and, thus, the shareholders' interests in the best manner possible having regard to the Company's other stakeholders. The Board of Directors' most important duties are to formulate H. Lundbeck A/S' overall strategy, set specific objectives for the Company's Executive Management and ensure that the members of the Executive Management have the right qualifications

For a more detailed description of the qualifications required for members of the Board of Directors, please see the Company's website: www.lundbeck.com -> About Us -> Corporate Governance -> Board Tasks.

Members of the Board of Directors elected by the annual general meeting are elected or re-elected every year, and therefore the term of office of the current members expires in connection with this annual general meeting. The Board of Directors proposes that the following members elected by the annual general meeting should be re-elected: Lars Søren Rasmussen, Lene Skole-Sørensen, Lars Erik Holmqvist, Jeffrey Berkowitz, Jeremy Max Levin, Dorothea Wenzel and Santiago Arroyo. In addition, the Board of Directors proposes to elect Jakob Riis as a new member to the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors expects to elect Lars Søren Rasmussen as Chair and to elect Lene Skole-Sørensen as Deputy Chair.

The Board of Directors assesses that together, the candidates possess the professional and international experience required for maintaining the Company's position as a leading global pharmaceutical company focusing on research and development in the field of brain disorders. The Board of Directors also considers the size of the Board appropriate considering the Company's needs and the aim of ensuring constructive debate and effective decision-making. Regard has been given to diversity in the selection of board candidates.

If the proposed candidates are elected to the Board of Directors, the Board will meet the recommendation for independence as defined by the Recommendations on Corporate Governance.

Re agenda item 7:

In accordance with the recommendation submitted to the Board of Directors by the Audit Committee, the Board of Directors proposes that PricewaterhouseCoopers Statsautoriseret Revisionspartnerselskab, CVR no.: 33 77 12 31 should be re-elected as auditor for the Company. The Audit Committee is free from influence by a third party and is not subject to a contract with a third party restricting the choice of the annual general meeting to certain categories or lists of statutory auditors or audit firms, as regards the appointment of a particular statutory auditor or audit firm to carry out the statutory audit of the Company.

Re agenda item 8:

8.1 It is proposed to authorize the Board of Directors until the next annual general meeting to allow the Company to acquire treasury shares of a total nominal value of up to 10% of the share capital. The purchase price for the relevant shares may not deviate by more than 10% from the price quoted on Nasdaq Copenhagen A/S at the time of the acquisition.

8.2 The Board of Directors proposes to amend the Remuneration Policy for the Board of Directors and the Executive Management of H. Lundbeck A/S. This includes a proposal to reduce the maximum pension contribution percentage for the Executive Management and redistribute the funds from the reduction of the pension contribution to the short term incentive program ("STI-program") for the Executive Management, by increasing the target and potential maximum of the STI-program (with the exemption of the CEO's STI-program, which will remain unchanged).

By reducing the maximum pension contribution percentage for the Executive Management, the pension contribution will be in alignment with the most dominant pension scheme for employees in Lundbeck's global headquarter. Further, by redistributing the funds from the reduced pension contribution to the STI-program for the Executive Management, by increasing the target and potential maximum of the STI-program (with the exemption of the CEO's STI-program, which will remain unchanged), the total remuneration package will move closer to market practice pay mix between fixed and variable remuneration and ensure that Lundbeck can attract and retain competent expertise from the relevant international business community. As a consequence of the proposed changes, clauses 3.1.1, 3.2.2, 3.3.3 of the Remuneration Policy will be amended.

The complete wording of the proposed amended Remuneration Policy for the Board of Directors and the Executive Management of H. Lundbeck A/S will be available on the Company's website by 22 February 2023.

8.3 Shareholder Astrid Skotte proposes that Lundbeck, in accordance with its Code of Conduct, offers to purchase the properties closest to the Lumsås factory to ensure health, safety and good relations with the local community.

The shareholder's justification is as follows:

The storage and use of large quantities of toxic, flammable and explosive substances meant that the Danish Environmental Authorities classified the factory in the village of Lumsås as a "risk company, category 3" (i.e. highest hazard class) in 2018. According to the EU Seveso-Directive, such establishments pose a threat that may entail serious consequences for human beings and the environment. According to the Danish Ministry of Industry, Business & Financial Affairs' Order on planning around risk enterprises, special considerations must be made when planning areas closer than 500 meters from the enterprise (among other measures), so that the citizens are not exposed to danger.

Near the Lumsås factory, a number of principal and secondary homes are located within 500 meters from the factory. If Lundbeck at some point chooses to make use of the new zoning plan's possibilities of expansion and new construction on the field north of the factory, the distance between the homes and the factory will be further reduced. In fact, about 12 properties will be located only about 50-200 meters from the factory.

At the same time, serious PFAS contamination has been identified at and around the factory. At the time of writing, this contamination has not been fully identified, but PFAS has already been detected in the marsh near the plant, which several secondary homes lie next to. In addition, the Danish Ministry of Environment has issued an injunction for the delineation of another serious contamination caused by a leak in the factory's piping system.

These factors mean that several of the nearest properties, where children also live, feel uneasy about the close proximity. Consequently, a family with four children living at home has been trying to sell their property (which is situated about 150 meters from the plant) throughout 2021 and 2022 when housing sales were generally favorable including in Lumsås. But they did not succeed.

The classification as a risk factory in 2018, the new possibilities and future plans for extensions of the factory and the newly discovered serious contamination cases at and near the factory will in practice make it very difficult to sell the properties closest to the factory. The residents rightly feel tied to their properties.

A model for buy-out offers could draw valuable inspiration from the wind turbine sector, where properties near wind farms are bought/offered for purchase to compensate the residents for the nuisance, including the loss of value, caused by the close proximity to a wind turbine.

The Board of Directors' reply:

Since the establishment of Lundbeck's Lumsås manufacturing plant in 1962, the company has done its utmost to ensure it operates according to all applicable rules and regulations that comes with operating a manufacturing site with a nearby growing community. Since 2018, Lundbeck's site in Lumsås has been designated as Seveso Upper-tier establishment ("Kolonne 3 risikovirksomhed" in Danish), which also means that it gets additional risk assessments and health and safety related oversight from the authorities to ensure the highest levels of safety for our employees and the community around the site.

PFAS (per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances) is an issue of international concern, which goes beyond Lundbeck and its Lumsås site. PFAS is a class of thousands of compounds that are used throughout society of which the most abundant are PFOS (perfluorooctanesulfonate) and PFOA (perfluorooctanic acid). Until 2011, PFOS was a common ingredient in fire retardant foam in fire extinguishing systems across Europe and was also used in many other parts of the world. These fire extinguishing systems were not only used by Lundbeck, but also by other companies as part of their fire prevention protocol and fire departments across Europe. Lundbeck has exclusively used PFOS free fire retardant foam in its extinguisher system since its ban more than 11 years ago, when the EU decided to phase out PFAS under the Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs) Regulation.

According to Danske Regioner, nearly 15.000 different areas across Denmark could potentially have an issue concerning high levels of PFAS. The Danish government has already communicated they are working on a national action plan regarding PFAS. Lundbeck is a great supporter of this step, as we agree that such a plan is needed to deal with this issue on a broader political level. Lundbeck continues to collaborate fully and openly with the authorities on this matter, as well as engages with the municipality to address concerns in the local community. This is a very broad national issue concerning many companies and locations which the government is best placed to address.

Given Lundbeck's long-standing strict adherence to government issued health and safety regulations and the fact that the government is working on a national level action plan to address the changed status of PFAS as a pollutant, we do not support this proposal to take action to purchase local property closest to the Lumsås factory.

8.4 The Board of Directors proposes to authorize the Chair of the annual general meeting to make such amendments and additions to the resolutions passed by the annual general meeting and the application for registration with the Danish Business Authority that may be required by the Danish Business Authority in connection with the registration of the adopted amendments.

All proposals on the agenda may be adopted by a simple majority of votes.
