Red Dot Design Awards for Tango XP espresso machine and NeoBlue Touch undercounter dishwasher

Electrolux Professional Group is proud to announce that its Tango XP super automatic espresso coffee machine and NeoBlue Touch undercounter dishwasher have been awarded the prestigious Red Dot Design Awards. These awards recognize the excellence in design, sustainability, and performance of our products.

The NeoBlue Touch undercounter dishwasher from Electrolux Professional stands out with its intuitive single control button, smart connectivity, and eco-efficient operation, consuming just 260 watts and 2.1 liters of water per cycle. The Tango XP espresso machine from UNIC, already a recipient of the German Design Award and Good Design Award, continues to impress with its user-centric features and modular design.

“These awards once again demonstrate our ability to develop innovative, ergonomic, and sustainable products always having our customers and end users in mind,” says Michele Cadamuro, Chief Design Officer, Electrolux Professional Group.

Four quality aspects are evaluated by the Red Dot jury: use of the product, functionality, responsibility/sustainable approach, and the quality of aesthetics.

About the awards

The Red Dot Design Awards have been recognizing world-leading products with outstanding design for over 60 years. Electrolux Professional Group has previously picked up Red Dot Awards for the LiberoPro, TrinityPro, SkyLine Cook&Chill range, green&clean Rack Type dishwasher and the thermaline M2M modular cooking solution.
