Catena certified by Great Place to Work

Logistics property company Catena has, for the first time, been certified by Great Place to Work – demonstrating that the company’s employees perceive Catena as an excellent workplace.

The certification is based on Great Place to Work’s international standard for workplace assessment, in which all of the employees share their personal experience of their workplace through a thorough examination of the workplace culture.

“Catena is an efficient organisation with individuals who bring a great deal of experience and skill. We believe in having fun at work and, by working together closely and on the basis of our shared values, we achieve our objectives, and are fully rewarded for our knowledge. Although we are proud to have received this certification and pleased that it confirms our excellence as workplace, we will not settle for this and naturally wish to continue improving our future results,” says Catena’s CEO, Jörgen Eriksson.

Each year, Great Place to Work selects Sweden’s and Europe’s best workplaces.
