

Changes to Senior Management at Catena

Amanda Thynell, Head of sustainability at Catena since 2022, has decided to leave the company to take on new professional challenges in the field of sustainable community development.

During her time at Catena, Amanda has led and further developed the company's strategic sustainability initiatives. This work has included target-setting and governance matters as well as initiatives to increase energy efficiency and strengthen industry collaboration, including the #HusFörHus initiative.

"Amanda has played an important role in strengthening and structuring Catena's sustainability efforts, and her strong commitment has helped ensure that sustainability aspects are fully integrated into the company's processes and daily operations. I would like to thank her for her contributions and wish her the very best in her next chapter," says Jörgen Eriksson, CEO at Catena.

"I am proud of what we have built together at Catena. I have gained valuable experience and look forward to continuing to work with sustainable community development in new contexts," says Amanda Thynell.

Amanda will leave Catena during the spring of 2026.
