NCC signs agreement for interior of super hospital in North Zealand

NCC and the Capital Region of Denmark have signed a further agreement for the New North Zealand Hospital project. This contract pertains to the interior of the hospital and the order value is approximately SEK 940 million.

NCC is the main contractor for the construction of the New North Zealand Hospital, which consists of a total of three phases. The first phase comprising concrete and earthworks is complete. In December 2021, an agreement was signed for the second phase, a facade and roofing works contract. The first part of the third phase, comprising interior work, is now set to commence.

“The work is proceeding well and we are now starting the third phase of the project. During the spring, we can look forward to starting the work of installing the interior fittings in the hospital, such as the future operating theaters and treatment rooms, which will start to take shape,” says Catarina Molén-Runnäs, Head of NCC Building Nordics.

This contract includes interior walls, ceilings, doors, flooring and fittings in treatment rooms. The work will proceed in parallel with phase two and continue until final completion.

“As the developer, we are extremely pleased with the contract we have signed with NCC, and we are building on the positive cooperation that we have in the construction of the New North Zealand Hospital. In the next phase of construction, the building will begin to take shape and the four-leaf clover and architectural visions will start to become visible,” says Sune From, Project Manager, New North Zealand Hospital.

The order value for this subcontract is approximately SEK 940 million and will be registered among orders in the first quarter of 2022 in the NCC Building Nordics business area.
