Truecaller reaches 300 million active users globally

Truecaller, the leading global platform for verifying contacts and blocking unwanted communications, reached another significant milestone on 21 November 2021 when the number of monthly active users reached 300 million.

“We started small but always had big ambitions for Truecaller. To reach 300 million active users is a milestone for all of us that has worked hard to building Truecaller to the fantastic platform that it is today. Over the past decade, we have worked hard to make Truecaller the vital service that is used by so many and I am humbled by the trust millions of users put in our platform. We have a clear strategy to continue growing our company by developing the product to enhance the user experience and thereby welcome even more users in the future”, says Alan Mamedi, CEO of Truecaller.

Truecaller will continue to report average monthly active users and average daily active users on a quarterly basis.
