MilDef launches new brand positioning platform and groundbreaking product advancements at DSEI 2023

At DSEI (Defence and Security Equipment International) MilDef will showcase rugged IT solutions for the digitalized battlefield as well as a series of advancements. A new brand platform, WE ARMOR IT, will be inaugurated as well as a range of product news for the modern defense arena, such as panel PC technology, miniaturized computers and switches and software deployment at the Tactical edge.

DSEI 2023, in the most significant and largest iteration of the show in its 24-year history, will tackle the theme of 'Achieving an Integrated Force'. Highlighting the pertinence of integrating across the five operational domains of Air, Cyber and electromagnetic activities (CEMA), Land, Sea and Space. Among a wide array of rugged computers, servers, network products, tablets, displays and special electronics for modernizing the battlefield, MilDef in 2023 launch the next quantum leaps in technology advancements. For instance.

- The new generation of Panel PC technology, offering a significant advancement in rugged display, comprising a versatile ecosystem of detachable computers to be docked into screen modules.
- Launch of Android devices for Dismounted soldier systems.
- Newly developed miniseries of computers and switches.
- The launch of a brand new OneCIS battle station, presenting the unique software solution for rapid deployment of IT services at the Tactical Edge.

"Never before have we entered the DSEI stage with such a full spectrum of next level customer offerings, with product news that help our customers digitalize vital information streams in the most challenging environments. We are also excited to launch the next level of our costumer promise as we inaugurate our new brand platform, WE ARMOR IT. DSEI is simply the place to be to tap into a quickly evolving defense market and a perfect platform for MilDef to team up with customers and partners", says Henning Linnebjerg, CSO MilDef Group.

DSEI takes place September 12-15 in London, ExCeL Convention Center, MilDef booth is H2-655.
