MilDef signs ten-year framework agreement with BAE Systems Bofors

The new agreement with BAE Systems Bofors concerns future deliveries of MilDef's ruggedized hardware for the Archer artillery system. The framework agreement covers MilDef's products such as computers, network equipment and displays.

The ten-year framework agreement is the starting point for a deeper cooperation between MilDef and BAE Systems Bofors. The initial order placed in the first quarter of 2023 amounted to a value of SEK 69 million. The future monetary value of the framework agreement cannot currently be quantified.

"MilDef and BAE Systems Bofors have worked together for several years to develop and deliver robust hardware to ensure Archer's operational capability. This framework agreement is proof of a good relationship and our joint ability to provide our customers with high quality products," says Daniel Ljunggren, CEO MilDef Group.

BAE Systems Bofors is part of BAE Systems, which has operations in the US, Sweden and the UK. BAE Systems Bofors manufactures artillery and gun systems and ammunition for land and naval applications. These include anti-aircraft gun systems and platform-mounted firing systems.
