Abmas Elektro is joining Nimlas – one of the leading providers of technical installations in the Nordic region

Nimlas is proud to welcome Abmas Elektro to its group. Abmas Elektro has built a solid reputation as a reliable and competent electrical installer in the Oslo region. The acquisition marks an important step in Nimlas continued growth in Eastern Norway, giving the company an even stronger foundation for further expansion and development in the region.

Established in 2003, Abmas Elektro has 56 skilled professionals and serves both regular and professional customers in the state, municipal, and commercial property sectors. Abmas also offers fire safety solutions including fireproofing, steel insulation, and fire-rated doors.

“Abmas Elektro has built an impressive business, with strong results and a solid reputation for quality and efficiency. They take good care of their people and are a certified “Great Place to Work” company. We look forward to shaping the future together with the talented team at Abmas Elektro”, says Terje Myhre, CEO of Nimlas Norway.

By joining Nimlas, Abmas Elektro keeps full ownership of its customer relationships, projects, personnel, and brand, while gaining the benefits of being part of the group.

“This acquisition represents a strategic step in Abmas Elektro’s planned development. We have long aimed to find a partner who shares our values and supports the way we run our business. Through the collaboration with Nimlas, we have the opportunity to further develop in the market based on the business model we are known for with local presence, high professional expertise, and close follow-up of customers. Nimlas adds solid support functions that will strengthen our continued growth, while we retain our identity and flexibility. Together with Nimlas, we will continue to grow with quality and customer satisfaction as our main focus”, says Jan Erik Johansen Eikeset, Managing Director of Abmas Elektro.
