Smarteq and Aidon in successful AMR business in Finland

Smarteq has once again been awarded the contract to deliver antennas for the installation of the new-generation utility meters, “Smart meters”, for wireless transfer of data. Aidon will during 2011 deliver more than 300 000 Smart meters to the Finnish market.

Aidon is a European technology company specializing in smart metering and smart grid applications. Aidon's innovative solutions has made the company a well-known challenger of the traditional ways of thinking and acting. Smarteq is a well-known company as vendor of antennas and has been delivering a majority of the AMR projects in the Nordic area.

- Our mission is to offer our customers, the utility companies, technical solutions that increase customer service. Smarteq stands for high quality products and services and we are looking forward to cooperating in other countries says Fredrik Rex at Aidon Oy.
- With this order Smarteq consolidates its position on the market and increases the presence even further on the Nordic market Smarteq will be a strong player in the continued rollout in Europe says Johan Hårdén, vice President at Smarteq
