2022 Volvo S60 Recharge Awarded Best Luxury Plug-In Hybrid by U.S. News & World Report

(MAHWAH, N.J.) April 22, 2022: The Volvo S60 Recharge has been named a 2022 Best Hybrid and Electric Car by U.S. News & World Report, winning the Best Luxury Plug-In Hybrid category.

After evaluating 82 hybrid, plug-in hybrid, and electric vehicles, and considering overall score from the U.S. News Best Car rankings, the starting price, Level 2 charging rate, and EPA fuel economy estimates, the award went to the S60 Recharge.

For 2022 the Volvo S60 Recharge T8 Extended Range, built with pride at the company's Ridgeville, South Carolina plant, offers 455 horsepower, with an estimated range of 74 MPGe combined /30MPG city/33 MPG highway. Drivers can travel up to 41 miles with zero tailpipe emissions when in Pure Mode. The S60 Recharge also features automatic emergency braking, forward collision warning, and pedestrian and cyclist detection as standard safety equipment.

As Volvo Cars continues down its path toward electrification and a zero-emission future, the automaker aims for half of its global sales to be all-electric by 2025, with rest hybrids, and is committed to becoming a fully electric car company by 2030.

"We are honored that the S60 Recharge has been recognized for its compelling combination of quality, value and efficiency," said Anders Gustafsson, Senior Vice President, Volvo Car Americas and President and CEO, Volvo Car USA.

The 2022 S60 Recharge is eligible for the $7,500 federal electric vehicle tax credit. To learn more about the S60 Recharge and other Volvo hybrid and electric models, please visit www.volvocars.com.
