Volvo XC60 Named 10 Best Car Interior Under $50,000 for 2018

ROCKLEIGH, NJ (March 1, 2018) – The Volvo XC60 has been named a 10 Best Car Interior Under $50,000 for 2018 by Autotrader editors, adding to the growing list of awards earned by the compact luxury SUV, including 2018 North American Utility of the Year.

From daily commutes, running errands, carpools and even road trips, Americans spend a lot of time in their cars. Aside from being used as transportation, drivers also want their vehicle to be a comfortable place, with quality materials and a logical, thoughtful layout that may even be as eye-catching as the exterior.

“What’s on the inside of a car is arguably as important as what’s on the outside, since drivers and passengers spend all their travel time here,” said Tara Trompeter, managing editor for Autotrader. “The 2018 Volvo XC60 is fully redesigned with a handsome new cabin that resembles the gorgeous, highly praised interior in the larger XC90. It features a large touchscreen that’s tremendously responsive and intuitive and easily ranks as one of the best in the car world.”

“Volvo now is as much about class leading design and technology as it is safety,” said Robin Page, Senior Vice President, Design, Volvo Car Corporation. “It’s fantastic that Autotrader editors have highlighted the importance of great interior design to enhance the customers’ daily experience while driving their car.”

U.S. customers can configure their own XC60 online at www.volvocars.com/us.
