

Load Impact Releases Report on Global Load Testing at Velocity

O'Reilly Velocity Conference 2012.

* Load Impact, the leading online load testing service, will release a report on the state of web readiness at the O'Reilly Velocity Conference 2012.

* The report will present new findings about the state of web readiness from load tests performed in 132 countries around the world.

Load Impact will participate in the O'Reilly Velocity Conference 2012 in Santa Clara, California, June 25-27 2012. Meet representatives from Load Impact at booth #211 to get your report and also a free voucher for load testing your website.

Jonas Barle, Global Sales Manager for Load Impact

46 73 5000 373

jonas.barle@loadimpact.com

Load Impact is an innovative Swedish company with more than 10 years of experience in Testing & QA. Since 2009, thousands of satisfied customers and partners conducted more than 525 000 load tests using Load Impact's cost-effective cloud service. Load Impact now has a substantial customer base of over 35 000 active accounts that continuously uses the service to ensure the quality of their online presence. A performance test identifies bottlenecks and problem areas which gives the customers the ability to timely adjust the appropriate resources and infrastructure before serious performance problems or interruptions occur. This gives customers the ability to provide an accurate, scalable and proactively optimized service to the end user. With the release of Load Impact 2.0, the next generation of enterprise-optimized on-demand services, the company has now strengthened its position as the world's leading provider of cloud-based solutions for web performance testing.*