PRESS RELEASE 1 November 2023

Proact receives award for security and data centres

Proact was recognised by Dell with an award for its strong focus on data protection and data centre sales during the Swedish Dell Technology Forum.

Proact, Europe's leading independent provider of data centre and cloud services, was delighted to receive the Excellence in Security partner award. with the motivation: "Proact has developed an impressive concept together with Dell with a strong focus on data protection and has embraced Dell's entire security concept. For a long time, Proact has worked closely with both customers and Dell to minimise data protection vulnerabilities. Proact also has a consulting organisation that includes some of the country's foremost experts in data protection, which complements Dell's offering in the best possible way. Proact therefore receives Dell's Partner Award for Excellence in Security 2023."

In addition to the Excellence in Security award, Proact also received the Excellence in Datacenter Sales award.

"Helping our customers to store, protect and create value through business-critical data has always been Proact's main driver. Our customers especially appreciate that we deliver modern solutions directly to their data centres or as hybrid cloud services with local experts and our own professional and high-quality technical support. We are very proud that Dell recognises our work," says Magnus Lönn, Managing Director at Proact IT Sweden AB.
