

Elekta named one of the world's most ethical companies by Ethisphere for the second time

Recognition honors companies that take the long view with a purpose-based strategy and strive to create positive change throughout their global communities

STOCKHOLM – Elekta (EKTA-B.ST) announced today that they have been named one of the 2020 World's Most Ethical Companies® by Ethisphere, a global leader in defining and advancing the standards of ethical business practices.

In 2020, 132 honorees were recognized spanning 21 countries and 51 industries. Grounded in Ethisphere's proprietary Ethics Quotient®, the assessment process includes more than 200 questions on culture, environmental and social practices, ethics and compliance activities, governance, diversity and initiatives to support a strong value chain.

"We are very proud to receive this award, based on stringent requirements of best practices for ethics and compliance," said Richard Hausmann, Elekta's President and CEO. "Being chosen as one of the world's most ethical companies is confirmation that Elekta truly strives to work with integrity, trust and transparency. We will continue to maintain and strengthen this culture within the company and to the benefit of all stakeholders."

"Congratulations to everyone at Elekta for earning this recognition," said Ethisphere's Chief Executive Officer, Timothy Erblich. "This is a moment to acknowledge the leaders working to advance corporate cultures defined by integrity and affirm those companies contributing to broader societal imperatives and the greater good."
