

HiQ chosen as Cambio's main partner for delivery of development teams

HiQ is initiating a partnership with Cambio to deliver development expertise to support development of modern e-health solutions.

"I'm very proud that HiQ has been entrusted with delivering development expertise to Cambio," says Patrik Holm, Managing Director at HiQ in Linköping.

Cambio is an e-health company that provides innovative, reliable and user-friendly solutions for improving care services and patient safety to health care providers in Europe. They have about 600 employees and their e-health solutions today reach more than 100,000 users in emergency wards, university hospitals, specialist and outpatient units, and around 4 million patients.

"Health care in Sweden is in the midst of digitalisation. Modern concepts such as machine learning and mobility will change the health care system forever. Together with HiQ, we can offer an exciting and stimulating opportunity for those who want to work with systems development in an area where they can make a real difference," says Peter Gille, CEO of Cambio.

The focus of the partnership will be on systems development in Java as well as front-end development. The need for developers is great and both HiQ and Cambio will need to hire new people to meet Cambio's increased need for development expertise.

"This is a perfect opportunity for us to do what we are best at – simplifying things for people through technology. Cambio's focus on development and innovative solutions in e-health together with our cutting-edge expertise in advanced systems development and our capability to deliver agile development teams makes this a very interesting partnership," says Patrik Holm, Managing Director at HiQ in Linköping.
