"Latour is a committed long-term owner of Securitas and ASSA ABLOY, and remains the largest shareholder in both companies, with full support for their respective long-term strategies. We are immensely proud of the successful journeys of these two world-leading companies, as they have been with Latour since the beginning and truly embody the Latour culture. By realizing a smaller portion of the value created in both companies, Latour further strengthens its ability to continue investing in the wholly-owned industrial operations, that has seen attractive returns, and grown from a turnover of SEK 7 billion to SEK 28 billion during the last 10 years", says Johan Hjertonsson, President and CEO Latour.

As a result of the partial divestments, the net debt of Latour is expected to decrease by SEK 5.0 billion.

Latour has agreed to customary lock-up undertakings of 180 days in relation to its remaining shareholdings in both Securitas and ASSA ABLOY following the partial divestments, subject to customary exceptions or waiver by Skandinaviska Enskilda Banken AB (publ), acting as Sole Global Coordinator and Joint Bookrunner, and J.P. Morgan SE, acting as Joint Bookrunner.
