

Play'n GO Brighten the Market with new Slot Inferno Star

Play'n GO have released their latest title into the market, a simple yet engaging slot entitled Inferno Star.

Following on from the successful launches of Mahjong 88 and their most recent release, Sabaton, Play'n GO have once again decided to switch up the formula by releasing a simpler game, adding to the versatility of their existing portfolio.

Inferno Star is an easy to play 5x3 video slot made more engaging with its innovative re-spin feature and the decision to make the game payout with a minimum of only two matching symbols, as opposed to the usual three.

The simplicity of the game is also augmented by the potential of the game. Along with an attractive payable, the slot also has big win possibilities and a large 2,500x bet win cap for players to enjoy.

Johan Törnqvist, CEO of Play'n GO discussed the importance of versatility and quality in a casino offering:

"Modern players know what they want and, in the current market, it's important to provide them with that or else they'll look elsewhere for their entertainment.

However, more importantly, they know what makes a good game. So, part of our challenge is to make sure there's something for them to enjoy in every game as well as catering to different tastes.

So even though we have such a diverse range of games in our portfolio, they all feature that Play'n GO quality that players enjoy."

The game also sees the return of Play'n GO's classic 'Gamble' feature where, after winning a prize, players have the chance to double or quadruple their winnings by correctly guessing the colour or the suit of a random playing card.

Inferno Star is available to play now.
