

Play'n GO Release Game of Gladiators into the Gaming Arena!

The latest title from leading casino supplier Play'n GO was released today, the slot Game of Gladiators.

The five-reel video slot allows players to battle their way to riches and glory, with several exciting features to add to the gameplay experience.

Carefully crafted graphics and well-rendered art design make this game a visual spectacle, but the slot's crowning element is its Enter the Arena bonus feature. Enter the Arena allows players to choose a champion of their choosing, either the male champion Spartacus or the female champion Amazonia and use the character to battle the gladiators on the reels, granting free spins until the battle is won or lost.

Along with several Primus features during standard gameplay, Game of Gladiators offers a wealth of excitement and anticipation through the use of its features, which is heightened by the game's strong narrative, a characteristic that is becoming a brand trait when it comes to Play'n GO releases.

Game of Gladiators marks the thirteenth game release from Play'n GO this year, an impressive output that has already yielded several commercially successful titles including Phoenix Reborn, Contact and Sabatón. The slot specialists are showing no signs of slowing and CEO Johan Törnqvist says they still have a lot more to offer:

"Game of Gladiators adds an exciting new option to the market, and we look forward to having players of the game enjoy battling it out in the Enter the Arena feature!"

"We've released many games for 2019, and there's plenty more to come from us, but that doesn't mean a sacrifice on quality. Each game is unique and carefully crafted to give players the most entertainment possible. If you look at what we have done so far, you will find a wide variety in choice and concepts, but all with that Play'n GO energy."

Game of Gladiators is available to play online now.
