Midcore District transformation program

The onboarding of Plarium into MTG and the implementation of the new District-based organizational structure from January 2026 is an opportunity to build a powerful new organization. This transformation will allow us to leverage the benefits from our combined scale, tools and resources to invest more into our games and drive their performance.

The transformation is expected to result in efficiency related savings for the group. These savings are expected to be in excess of USD 20 million on an annualized run-rate basis by the end of 2026. These savings will come from a combination of measures across headcount, technology, outsourcing, and facilities. This will enable us to make our operations more agile and efficient, while we continue to invest in our strategic priorities and long-term growth.

Launch of new SEK 400 million share buyback program

MTG intends to launch a share buyback program of up to SEK 400 million, which will run until 15 May 2026. MTG's strong portfolio of evergreen gaming IPs continues to generate robust and consistent cash flows, providing the financial flexibility to execute the buyback program. This strength allows MTG to return value to shareholders while confidently delivering on its financial commitments and debt service obligations.

Evaluation of structural opportunities for the Casual District which may include a public listing of PlaySimple in India

MTG has an ambitious growth strategy for its Casual District, which will be presented at the Capital Markets Day today. This strategy comprises a wide range of organic and inorganic initiatives to support PlaySimple's growth, which is the focal point of our Casual District.

To potentially accelerate MTG and PlaySimple's M&A ambitions in the casual gaming market, and as part of ongoing assessments of potential value creation alternatives, MTG is evaluating structural options for its Casual District which may include a public listing of PlaySimple in India. MTG is conducting a pre-IPO preparedness study for PlaySimple, with the outcome of this study helping us evaluate our options in 2026 and we will revert to the market in due course upon conclusion of this study. Regardless of the outcome of this study, MTG fully intends to remain the majority owner of PlaySimple for the long-term.

MTG's Group President and CEO Maria Redin comments:

"The MTG that greets you in 2025 is a scaled mobile gaming industry leader with a Gaming Village that has some of the most exciting, strong and iconic evergreen gaming IPs on the market. We are excited to present our vision, strategy and goals at our Capital Markets Day today to take MTG to the next level. Our ambition is to once again double the size of our group and our vision remains to build scaled commercial platforms supporting our games and studios and we are better placed now, more than ever, to realize that vision.

We are building our future in a rapidly evolving industry. To remain competitive, we need to ensure that our business is flexible, fast and efficient. The Midcore District transformation program we are launching is designed to help us accomplish that. At the end of this process, our Midcore District will have an even better ability to execute on its strategy while driving the performance of its games. As you can see, we are excited to continue evolving our group and drive both long-term growth and shareholder value. I look forward to sharing more details at our Capital Markets Day today and hope to see you there."
