FORT WASHINGTON, PA — The National Comprehensive Cancer Network® \(NCCN®\), an alliance of the world's leading cancer centers dedicated to quality, effectiveness, and efficiency of cancer care so that patients can live better lives, today announced that Case Comprehensive Cancer Center which includes University Hospitals Seidman Cancer Center and Cleveland Clinic Taussig Cancer Institute has been elected to institutional membership. NCCN now has 26 Member Institutions serving patients throughout the United States.

"Case Comprehensive Cancer Center brings to NCCN unique and valuable attributes, including a robust genomics program and clinical research operational infrastructure, that indeed will enhance the already extraordinary collaboration of the alliance," said Robert W. Carlson, MD, Chief Executive Officer, NCCN. "We look forward to working with their renowned experts and leadership to further the NCCN mission, support and enhance evidence-based decision-making, and promote the importance of continuous process improvement."

"I am excited to welcome Case Comprehensive Cancer Center to the NCCN alliance," said Samuel M. Silver, MD, PhD, University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center, Chair, NCCN Board of Directors. "Collaborating with their expert clinicians and researchers will indeed strengthen our network and improve the lives of patients with cancer."

Case Comprehensive Cancer Center is an NCI-designated Comprehensive Cancer Center located at Case Western Reserve University. The center, which has been continuously funded since 1987, integrates the cancer research activities of the largest biomedical research and health care institutions in Ohio – Case Western Reserve, University Hospitals (UH) Case Medical Center and the Cleveland Clinic. NCI-designated cancer centers are characterized by scientific excellence and the capability to integrate a diversity of research approaches to focus on the problem of cancer. It is led by Stanton Gerson, MD, Asa and Patricia Shiverick-Jane Shiverick (Tripp) Professor of Hematological Oncology, and also Director of the National Center for Regenerative Medicine, Case Western Reserve, and Director of the Seidman Cancer Center at UH Case Medical Center.

"Our centers join an elite set of nationally recognized cancer centers that set the standards for exceptional cancer care, coordinated cancer services, and top-of-mind guidelines for patient management. We bring to the network well known national leaders in cancer care, clinical investigation, and translational research, and two highly ranked institutions for cancer care, Seidman Cancer Center and Taussig Cancer Institute, that will add to the capabilities and impact of NCCN. This is a group we are honored to join," said Dr. Gerson.

Now in its 20th year of operation, originally announced as an alliance of 13 leading cancer centers in 1995, NCCN is devoted to patient care, research, and education in order to improve the quality, effectiveness, and efficiency of cancer care so that patients can live better lives. The NCCN Clinical Practice Guidelines in Oncology \(NCCN Guidelines®\) are considered the standard of care and clinical policy by oncologists and payers. The most comprehensive clinical treatment guidelines in any area of medicine, the NCCN Guidelines® are developed through an explicit review of the evidence integrated with expert medical judgment and recommendations by multidisciplinary panels from NCCN Member Institutions.
