AVIATRAX TECHNICS launches new offices in Luton, UK

AVIATRAX TECHNICS LTD, a UK-based provider of corporate and private jet airworthiness services and technical consultancy, has opened an office in Luton, UK.

Julian Rose, Managing Director of AVIATRAX TECHNICS LTD, leads the new office. "Luton was the best choice for us and for our clients," he says. "Being just a few minutes from Luton Airport where both Gulfstream Aerospace and Harrods Aviation provide base maintenance, we are perfectly located to support jet owners and operators with technical representation during maintenance at Luton and post-maintenance audit."

In addition to being an interface between clients and their Part-145 maintenance organisations, the company develops maintenance programmes and Minimum Equipment Lists, and supports clients with Airworthiness Management, Nominated Airworthiness Technical Representative (IOM NATR), Pre-LOI Evaluation, Records Review, Pre-Buy Inspection Management, Registration Change, Maintenance planning and oversight, C of A Renewal, Aircraft Physical Inspections, to name a few of the specialist services of AVIATRAX TECHNICS LTD.

With over 25 years' experience in maintenance and engineering, Julian is convinced that the combination of high service level and professional experience is the key to satisfying customers: "In our business, a smile will only get you so far. When we act as owners' rep, we are proactive and drive maintenance costs down. Our services are delivered as promised and on time...and with a smile too."
