

Asetek Settles Lawsuit with PHD Group after Acquiring Two Additional US Patents

Aalborg, February 10th, 2015 — Asetek®, the world's leading supplier of computer liquid cooling solutions, today announced that it has settled the lawsuit asserted against the company by PHD Research Group, Inc. The settlement is a result of Asetek acquiring the two asserted patents within the field of all-in-one liquid cooling systems for computers. The two Patents - US 6,408,937 and US 7,055,581 were first filed in 2000 and 2003 and will provide additional IP protection for all Asetek products including an all-in-one pump configuration.

About Asetek

Asetek is the world leading provider of energy efficient liquid cooling systems for data centers, servers, workstations, gaming and high performance PCs. Its products are used for reducing power and greenhouse emissions, lowering acoustic noise, and achieving maximum performance by leading OEMs and channel partners around the globe.

Asetek's products are based upon its patented all-in-one liquid cooling technology with more than 2 million liquid cooling units deployed in the field. Founded in 2000, Asetek is headquartered in Denmark with offices in California, China and Taiwan. For more information, visit <http://www.asetek.com>.
