Aegis IT Named Huawei European Excellence Partner of the Year

Aegis IT, the North East based technology consultancy has scooped a major award and recognition from global technology business Huawei, at their annual awards for European distributors. The business was acknowledged as European Excellence Partner of the Year at the distributor conference in Amsterdam.

The company beat off significant competition from Huawei distributors across Europe to receive the prestigious award, as Huawei have 431 official partners across Europe including many of the largest IT consultancies across Europe.

The award was presented to Aegis IT Managing Director, David McPherson by Patrick Zhang, President of Marketing and Solutions, Huawei Enterprise Business Group. David McPherson commented on the award: 'We have worked extremely closely with Huawei and really understand the benefits and the exceptional quality and leading edge solutions they can deliver.'

'This award acknowledges the hard work by our entire team to build an outstanding relationship, and is a great achievement for our business. We share a similar business ethos, which focuses on leading edge business solutions, to drive the commercial success of a business. The number of joint projects we have handled with Huawei has increased significantly over the last 12 months, and this is a sign of the strengthening relationship.'

Aegis IT is a leading UK based technology consultancy. The company assists customers from all sectors with the procurement, provision and support of their business IT requirements. Working with customers based nationwide providing cutting edge solutions to their individual technology needs, Aegis IT has an exceptional portfolio of customers who gain competitive advantage, improve return on investment and allow them to concentrate on what they do best, running their core business in the most effective, efficient and secure way.

With headquarters in Newcastle and offices in Leeds and Edinburgh Aegis IT has developed an integrated consultancy and technical support services arm, which is currently on a number of major projects in the contact centre and education environment with Huawei.
