

DrinClock Poised to Launch Crowdfunding Campaign via Kickstarter

Campaign Launch Set for November 24th

Taiwan – DrinClockTeam announced today that the launch date of the crowdfunding campaign on Kickstarter for its new product DrinClock is set for November 24th. DrinClock is a device that combines an alarm clock with a thermal module that heats a mug of warm water for users to consume upon waking.

“Various reports over the years have confirmed the many health benefits of drinking warm water with lemon first thing in the morning,” said Rick Yen, DrinClock’s project management lead. “From an immunity system boost to skin rejuvenation, lowering blood pressure, weight loss boost, disease prevention and flushing out toxins, we are confident that the easy-to-use DrinClock will help make a difference in kicking off the day in the right way.”

DrinClock saves time for users by eliminating the need to walk into the kitchen on cold and dry mornings or anytime of day. In just three steps, users simply fill the mug with water, close the lid, set the temperature and alarm clock, and then go to sleep. The mug heats up the water in advance of activating the alarm clock to wake up the user. A warm cup of water is waiting for them when waking up the next morning.

DrinClock is tilt proof, misalignment proof, spill proof and low volume proof, making it completely safe for use in a bedroom setting. No extra water is needed for use, creating amazing efficiency and energy-saving qualities when compared to using a traditional kettle. It’s easy to open with a specially-designed, secure safety lock.

With a November 24th launch date in sight for DrinClock’s crowdfunding campaign, the creators will use this time to fully develop the product. Individuals interested in earning an opportunity to score a DrinClock early-bird discount on Kickstarter are encouraged to visit <http://www.drinclock.com/> to sign up for notifications.

About DrinClock

The DrinClock combines the uses of an alarm clock and thermal module in one device to heat up a cup of water before waking. For more information, log onto <http://www.drinclock.com>, “like” DrinClock on Facebook or follow @drinclock on Twitter.

Project PR Contact Info

Email: hello@thecrowdfundmarketing.com

Website: www.thecrowdfundmarketing.com