ITASCA, ILL. October 25, 2013 – IFS Americas President and CEO Cindy Jaudon has been named a finalist in two categories of the Stevie Awards 10th annual Women in Business awards.

Jaudon is a finalist for the Female Executive of the Year – Business Products – Less Than 2,500 Employees category and the Woman of the Year – Technology category in the Stevie Awards for Women in Business.

The Stevie Awards for Women in Business honor women executives, entrepreneurs, employees and the companies they run – worldwide. The Stevie Awards have been hailed as the world's premier business awards. This year there were more than 1,200 entries submitted for consideration in more than 90 categories.

Gold, Silver and Bronze Stevie Award winners will be announced during a gala event at the Marriott Marquis Hotel in New York on Friday, November 8. Nominated women executives and entrepreneurs from the United States and several other countries are expected to attend.

As IFS Americas' President and CEO, Jaudon recognizes that happy customers are the best source of referrals for gaining new business. With the help of her dedicated staff, IFS has reached unprecedented levels of satisfaction in the enterprise applications market.

"In the first quarter of 2013, we conducted our annual IFS customer satisfaction survey of more than 8,000 contacts and I am pleased to see our satisfaction levels have continued to be positive," IFS Americas President and CEO Cindy Jaudon said. "I monitor these survey results and listen closely to our customers' feedback, which helps IFS address their needs better. This year we found that overall 96 percent of our customers were more than satisfied with IFS. These positive numbers continue to make me feel good about the value our team provides to our customers."
