IFS Announces World Conference Dates for 2015

May 5th -7th, 2015 in Boston, MA - USA

IFS, the global enterprise applications company, is pleased to confirm the dates for the IFS World Conference in 2015. The event will take place from Tuesday May 5th, 2015 – Thursday May 7th, 2015 at the John B. Hynes Convention Center in Boston, MA in the USA.

Set over three days, attendees will be privy to important updates from IFS and its partners. In addition to learning about key product developments, the conference will provide a forum for inspirational keynote speakers, sharing of best practice (with streams for strategic and technical focus), workshops, training and essential networking.

IFS Chief Marketing Officer, Mark Boulton, commented, “IFS World Conference 2015 is a fantastic opportunity for our customers, partners, and the broader IFS community to be inspired and connect in a unique environment which lends itself well to learning, sharing and networking. Over the three days delegates will hear about the latest business technology trends and innovations which help businesses adapt to change and achieve greater efficiency. We’re delighted to already have some great partners signed up as well as many pre-registration requests.”

In addition to the training sessions that are offered as part of the main conference, further in-depth training for existing IFS customers will continue on Friday May 8th, 2015.
