The property is directly connected to ring roads, with good access to public transportation and is only 16 kilometres from Rådhuspladsen in Copenhagen.

"We're pleased to be able to continue to develop our productive partnership with the armed forces and the Danish state. We've had a large number of public sector tenants and we're well prepared to participate in the continued development of these operations, exactly like with our commercial tenants," says Ulrika Hallengren, CEO of Wihlborgs.
