

ORGANOWOOD SIGNS GENERAL AGREEMENT WITH THE DEROME GROUP

OrganoClick's subsidiary OrganoWood manufactures and markets eco-friendly fire and rot protected wood and wood treatment products. OrganoWood has since a few year's collaborated with Derome Byggvaror wich have 22 building suppliers in western Sweden. In order to strengthen the collaboration further, OrganoWood and the Derome group has now entered into a general agreement.

Since 2012 OrganoWood AB manufactures and markets OrganoWood®-modified wood with both an effective fire and rot protection. The wood is an eco-friendly complement to standard pressure treated timber decking and is recommended by Swedish Byggarubedömningen. In 2014, OrganoWood®-modified wood won Nordbyggs gold medal for the "Hottest new building material of the year" and the company's wood treatment system was the first wood protection product in Sweden to be awarded with the Swedish Society for Nature Conservation's eco-label "Good Environmental Choice"

"The general agreement with the Derome group give us a strong position on the Swedish west coast to the professional buidling sector through Derome's 22 building suppliers" says Jens Hamlin, Managing Director OrganoWood.

Derome Byggvaror will as a start keep the timber decking dimension 28x120 in stock and will order the rest of OrganoWood's products upon customer demand.
