

American outerwear brand GoLite chooses OrganoTex as its water repellent treatment

American outerwear brand GoLite chooses OrganoTex as its water repellent treatment (DWR). Products with OrganoTex will be launched in spring 2019.

GoLite produces lightheaded outerwear with a focus on running and yoga. A big focus is put on sustainability with garment made of recycled materials and sustainable chemistry.

"We are happy to have been chosen as a DWR supplier for GoLite. Their focus on sustainability is exactly in line with our focus and value", says Mårten Hellberg, CEO OrganoClick.
