Welcome Spermosen

Today is the first trading day in Spermosen AB who are active within medical technology and specializes in the development of medical devices

The company develops products for male infertility and individually tailored fertility treatments. Research and development is conducted via its own technological platform that analyzes sperm quality, which is further used for medical data and potential fertilization. The largest operations are in the Nordic market.

“Our ambition is to contribute to an improved quality of life for couples with infertility problems around the world” says John Lempert, CEO, Spermosen.

Spermosen new share issue was subscribed to approximately 652 percent of the offering, and now the company has approximately 3000 new shareholders.

“Today is the first trading day in yet another interesting growth company on Spotlight – this time active within medical technology. It is great to see the interest in the company who’s offering was oversubscribed prior to the listing. Welcome Spermosens!” says Carl-Henrik Nordberg, Head of Listing, Spotlight.
