Getinge announces departure of Elin Frostehav as President Acute Care Therapies

Getinge today announced that Elin Frostehav will leave her position as President Acute Care Therapies and member of the Executive Team to accept an external opportunity.

“Elin has made an important contribution to the advancement of our Acute Care Therapies business during her time with Getinge,” said Mattias Perjos, President & CEO at Getinge. “We have made good progress in strengthening the business and its strategic direction, and our focus now is on a smooth transition. I would like to thank Elin and wish her continued success.”

The recruitment process to identify a successor is underway and Getinge expects to provide an update in the near term. Until then, Elin Frostehav will continue to serve in her role and thereafter support a smooth transition.
