What does MiFID II mean, how to become compliant?

The implementation of MiFID II is getting closer day by day, and financial institutions are scrambling to stay compliant and understand what they need to do. "As usual regulatory changes are creating confusion among the involved parties, and we are therefore pleased to be able to arrange this seminar in cooperation with the law firm Gernandt & Danielsson," says Stefan Willebrand, CEO of Bricknode.

Bricknode aims to make the transition to the new regulations as smoothly as possible through automated solutions in Bricknode Broker. Therefore, Bricknode is organizing a seminar in cooperation with Gernandt & Danielsson Law Firm, which is aimed at securities companies. The seminar will concern the following points and how these will be managed in Bricknode Broker;

- How does the investor protection regulations change?
- Definition of financial instruments
- Extended transaction reporting
- Declarations of goods by using Key Investor Information Document (KIID)
