

Advenica initiates partnership with Dustin in Finland

The cybersecurity company Advenica has initiated a strategic collaboration with Dustin Finland Oy. Dustin is one of Scandinavia's leading resellers of IT products and related services and solutions.

Dustin will offer Advenica's classified products to their customers who require advanced IT solutions to protect their information and ensure a secure information exchange.

Advenica's agreement with Dustin brings a broader offering of products and services of the highest quality to the Finnish market. Dustin will act as a reseller for Advenica's products in Finland and add value by developing applications and integrate the solutions for their end customers. Dustin will also provide storage of the products in their secure facilities.

This agreement is yet another step in our ambition to create a larger customer base for our products in Finland. Dustin is a company with great and valuable experience of Advenica's targeted audience and we look forward to the great opportunities that this partnership will bring to the market in Finland.
