

Advenica initiates partnership with Nixu

Advenica and Nixu have initiated a partnership regarding cybersecurity solutions. The collaboration makes Nixu a complete solution provider for Advenica products within Northern Europe.

Secure digitalisation is a huge challenge for most organisations today. To protect valuable information more companies and authorities realise the importance of using high assurance cybersecurity solutions. Advenica provides expertise and unique, technologically advanced, sustainable and future-proof cybersecurity solutions.

To be able to offer Advenica's unique VPN encryptors and Cross Domain Solutions to more customers, Advenica now initiates a cooperation with Nixu. Nixu is a European cybersecurity services company that help organisations embrace digitalisation securely. With nearly 400 cybersecurity professionals they serve enterprise clients worldwide. Nixu will now operate as a complete solution provider for Advenica products within Northern Europe.

"We look forward to cooperating with Advenica that is known for their world-class high assurance cybersecurity solutions", says Kim Westerlund, Chief Development Officer at Nixu Corporation.

"We are very pleased with the cooperation with Nixu. With their digitalisation experience we get a partner with an organisation ready to help customers with cybersecurity solutions. We look forward to the possibilities this will give both our companies", says Marie Bengtsson, acting CEO Advenica AB.
